Guide for Overseas Visitors Attending Exhibitions in Beijing

1. Communication

1.1 SIM Card

Major Telecom Companies in China: China Mobile, China Telecom, China Unicom.

How to Get a SIM Card: SIM cards in China require real-name registration. Overseas visitors can bring their passports to a China Mobile, China Telecom, or China Unicom service center to purchase a SIM card and activate a plan.

About Mobile Data: The data included in the plan is valid nationwide (excluding Hong Kong, Macau, and Taiwan).

About Dedicated Data: This refers to data that can only be used for specific apps.

Important Notes: There are many types of mobile plans in China. Generally, mobile plans include domestic calls and nationwide data (excluding Hong Kong, Macau, and Taiwan). Additional fees will be charged for exceeding the included call or data limits. Nationwide data (excluding Hong Kong, Macau, and Taiwan) can also be purchased separately.

SIM cards are compatible with all types of phones.

1.2 Social Media: WeChat

Registering WeChat: To register a WeChat account, you need to bind a phone number. One phone number can only register one WeChat account.

WeChat ID: Friends can find you by entering your WeChat ID and add you as a friend. After registering a WeChat account, a WeChat ID will be automatically generated. The WeChat ID is the unique identifier for the account and can be changed once a year if there are no security risks.

Adding Friends: Scan a QR code or enter a WeChat ID.

1.3 Communication Software: WhatsApp

Please note that using WhatsApp in mainland China requires a VPN.

We recommend using Shadowrocket. You can download, install, and purchase a data plan through the link below. The official website has a download guide.

2. Mobile Payment

2.1 WeChat

Download and install WeChat on your phone, and follow the app's instructions to register, entering your foreign or domestic phone number and other information.

Open the app and bind an international bank card with Mastercard, Visa, JCB, Diners Club, or Discover logos; or a domestic bank card with a UnionPay logo.

Activate the payment function: To use WeChat's payment function, you must complete real-name verification. Users without a Chinese ID card must bind a bank card before using the payment function. (Note: Foreign bank cards cannot be bound to WeChat.)

When making a payment, open the app, scan the merchant's QR code, or show your payment QR code to the merchant.

QR Code: Open the "Me" tab at the bottom of the screen, then go to "Wallet" -"Payment" to show your payment code. Click the "+" in the top right corner of the main interface, then select "Scan" to scan the merchant's QR code, and use facial recognition or enter your password to pay. (Note: Protect your payment password.)

WeChat Balance: The WeChat balance is the funds in your WeChat Pay account.

Money received from red packets or transfers will go into your balance, which supports top-up, withdrawal, and payment functions. (Note: You cannot use your balance to top up a credit card.)

2.2 Alipay

Download and install WeChat or Alipay on your phone, and follow the app's instructions to register, entering your foreign or domestic phone number and other information. To activate Alipay, you must complete real-name verification. Users without a Chinese ID card must use a valid ID for online real-name verification and then bind a bank card.

Open the app and bind an international bank card with Mastercard, Visa, JCB, Diners Club, or Discover logos; or a domestic bank card with a UnionPay logo.

Activate the payment function: To use WeChat's payment function, you must complete real-name verification. Users without a Chinese ID card must bind a bank card before using the payment function. (Note: Foreign bank cards cannot be bound to WeChat.)

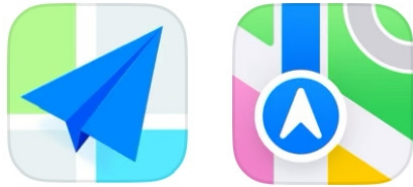

When making a payment, open the app, scan the merchant's QR code, or show your payment QR code to the merchant.

Alipay Payment Process: On the main interface, select "Scan" to scan the merchant's QR code, and use fingerprint recognition or enter your password to pay. On the main interface, select "Pay" to show your payment code. (Note: Protect your payment password.)

Alipay Account Balance: The Alipay account balance is the funds in your Alipay account. Money received from transfers will go into your account balance, which supports top-up, withdrawal, and payment functions. (Note: You cannot use your balance to top up a credit card.)

Account Balance Inquiry: On the Alipay homepage, go to "Finance" -> "Total Assets."

3. Transportation

During the exhibition, shuttle buses will be arranged to transport overseas visitors between hotels and the exhibition center.

3.1 Maps

Maps Maps

We recommend using AMap Global or Maps for location, route search, and finding nearby bus stops and subway stations.

3.2 Subway

You can use QR codes to travel by subway. Scan the code once when entering the station and once when exiting, totaling two scans.

Subway apps include:

Alipay (must bind a bank card to activate payment service)

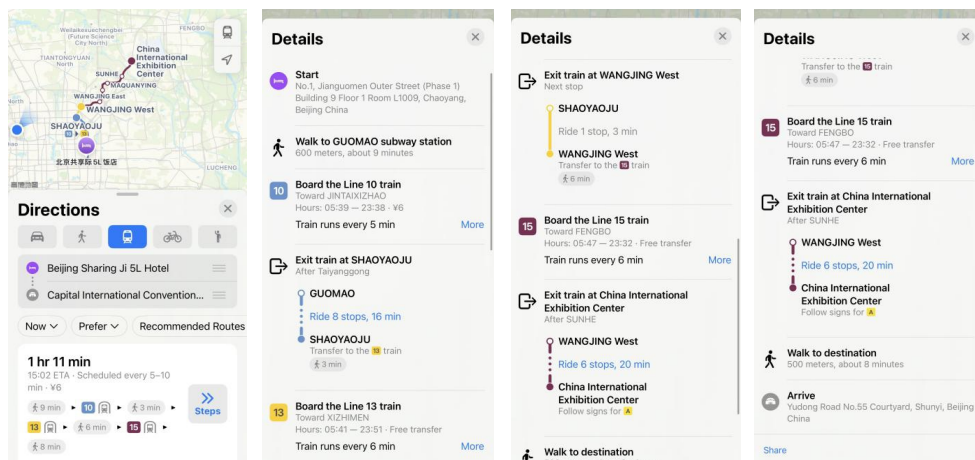

Yitongxing (can bind bank cards, Apple Pay, Alipay, WeChat Pay, etc.)

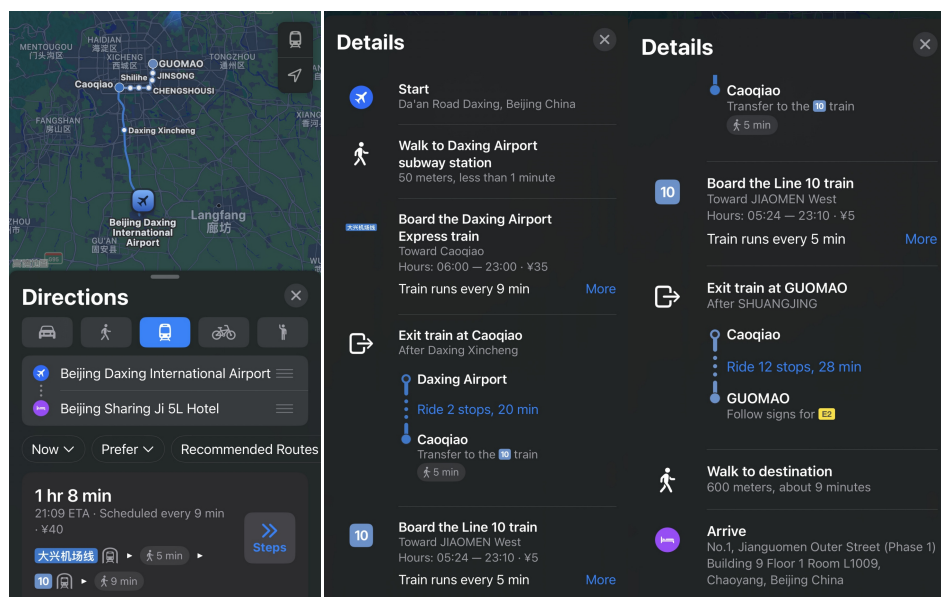

The nearest subway station to Beijing Guomao 5L Hotel is Guomao Station.

3.4 Bicycles and Electric Scooters

In busy Beijing, you can choose shared bikes or electric scooters for transportation. Shared bikes are provided by companies in campuses, subway stations, bus stops, residential areas, commercial areas, and public service areas. They operate on a time-based rental model and are a new eco-friendly sharing economy. You can unlock them by scanning QR codes with WeChat or Alipay and pay online.

3.5 Ride-Hailing Apps

In China, you can hail a taxi on the street or use ride-hailing apps. We recommend using Didi Chuxing or Gaode Taxi apps, or hailing a ride through WeChat or Alipay. Payment can be made via WeChat or Alipay.
